Wild Ones-St. Louis Awards Grant to City of Brentwood for a Pollinator Garden

Brentwood, Missouri – December 20, 2017 – A new pollinator garden will bloom in Brentwood, thanks to a grant from Wild Ones-St. Louis. The garden was planted in Fall 2017 next to the Brentwood Public Works facility at 8330 Manchester Road and should be up and growing in Spring 2018.

A pollinator garden is planted predominantly with flowers that provide nectar or pollen for a range of pollinating insects, such as bees and butterflies.

The City of Brentwood is also one of more than 3,400 communities designated a Tree City USA by the Arbor Day Foundation and is participating in the Mayors' Monarch Pledge through the National Wildlife Federation.

Wild Ones is a nonprofit organization that encourages landscaping with native plants in residential, business and public landscapes. For more information, visit www.stlwildones.org.
